HAWAIIAN MISSION CHILDRENS' SOCIETY

It was in this year, 1874, that the Micronesian Mission was reinforced by the now well known names, Rev. and Mrs. R. W. Logan, Rev. and Mrs. Frank Rand, Rev. and Mrs. Horace J. Taylor. Rev. O. H. Gulick returned from Japan on a visit and assisted his aged parents, Rev. Peter J. and Mrs. Fannie Gulick, to settle up their affairs and go back with him to Japan to end their days.

The address of Mr. Lawrence McCully was styled: "The Old Catholic Movement."

1875—Mr. Peter C. Jones, president. In the report for this year we find this record: At the annual meeting the following resolution, offered by Mr. L. McCully, was passed by a unanimous vote: "Resolved, that the gift of $500 to this society, from Mr. E. Cornelius Bond of Kohala, be accepted on the conditions accompanying it, namely, that it be invested as a permanent fund, the interest to be added to the principal until the whole fund shall by such increase, or by the gifts of other persons to it amount to two thousand dollars, after which the society may employ the income of the fund for the objects of the society, preserving a capital of not less than two thousand dollars as a permanent fund."

We are glad to record that this fund has for several years proved a great help in financial straits. This year also General S. C. Armstrong's work for the freedmen in Hampton, Virginia, is given particular notice by this extract from one of his letters: "We are finishing a $15,000 building, and are exhausted, but expect to get through. In ten days two hundred negro youths will pour in upon us from everywhere, and there will be an eight and a half months' drive." We also find record in 1875 of Hon. H. A. P. Carter as Minister Plenipotentiary from the Hawaiian government as commissioner negotiating with Hon. Elisha H. Allen a treaty of reciprocity between the United States and the Hawaiian Islands.

Dr. Luther H. Gulick, grown venerable in his cosmopolitan labors, had returned from Spain to Boston; and during the service of the American Board for Foreign Missions, entered a larger field as agent of the American Bible Society. He went to Japan in 1875 and commenced this Bible work. Later he removed to China and the record of his labors is amazing. It was not strange that he burned out and died comparatively early.

Annual address was delivered by the vice president, Mr. F. W. Damon; subject, "Latent Power in the Christian Church."

1876—George H. Dole, president. This was the year of the centennial celebration of the independence of the United States, and the World's Fair in Philadelphia. Many members of this society were drawn thither, among them the writer, who had the honor to be the correspondent of the Hawaiian Gazette while there. Mr. J. Everts Chamberlain went as Missionary Delegate to Micronesia in the Morning Star, and presented a very interesting report on his return. Miss Lucretia F. Ingraham resigned her position in Kawaiahao Seminary and took a place in a government school in Hilo, Hawaii. Dr. L. H. Gulick's family joined him this year in Japan, and the only sister of the Gulick family, Miss Julia A. C. joined the Japan mission. Rev. Hiram Bingham and wife returned from Apolonia, Gilbert Islands, by way of Samoa, he in a state of complete nervous prostration. Letters of great interest received from Hawaiian missionaries in Micronesia translated and printed in annual report.

Subject of Mr. George H. Dole's address, "Tolerance of Opinion."

1877—Rev. J. M. Alexander, president. The four boarding schools for Hawaiian girls most flourishing. Miss Margaret Flaxman returned from England and became prominent assistant to Miss E. K. Bingham in Kawaiahao Seminary. Rev. B. G. Snow and wife returned from Micronesia, he in broken health. He never returned to his loved work but died in the United States in 1880. Rev. Charles M. Hyde and Mrs. Hyde, with two sons, arrived from Boston, Mass. His special work was to be the development of the North Pacific Missionary Institute for training of native pastors. They were accompanied by her venerable mother and sister, Mrs. and Miss Knight, who cheerfully came to make a new home here. They both ended their mortal lives here and their memory is precious. Dr. Hyde became at once a most prominent factor in all missionary and educational work.

Hon. Henry A. P. Carter was made the Minister of Foreign Relations in the Hawaiian government, and Hon. A. S. Hartwell, Attorney General. Mr. Lawrence McCully received appointment of Second Assistant Justice. The great agricultural enterprise of digging the Haku water ditch was completed, bringing running water eighteen miles from the mountains of East Oahu to various plantations. Mr. S. T. Alexander was the promoter of this great work. Subject of Rev. J. M. Alexander's address, "Evolution in Science and Religious Progress."

1878—Mr. Amasa Pratt, president. A most interesting report of the Mortlock Island Mission, which was the Home Missionary work of Ponape Christians, but sustained financially entirely by this society, was printed, prepared by Rev. H. H. Sturges. The names of "Opataca and Opadina" their first missionaries, were long household words here. Rev. J. P. Poague, late secretary of the Hawaiian Board, while on a trip for health to the United States, died on his return journey and was buried in death of winter at Laramie, Wyoming Territory. Father and Mother Gulick celebrated their golden wedding in Japan and three months later Rev. Peter J. Gulick peacefully ended his life, greatly loved and admired by the Japanese Christians. Mother Gulick was buried by his side later. Mr. Pratt's annual address had no title, but might be called a "Resume of Religious and Missionary Work from the Christian Era." His closing sentences were so fine as to be treasured in memory:

"Be patient. God's clock strikes but once or twice in a thousand years, but the wheels all the time keep turning. Over the caravansary of Bethlehem, with silver tongue, it struck one. Over the University of Erfurt, Luther heard it strike nine. In the rockiness of the present century it has struck eleven. Thank God, it will strike twelve."

1879—Mr. C. J. Lyons, president. Another letter from our Mortlock mission printed, showing real progress and accompanied by several barrels of shells to be sold and the avails credited to our treasury as a donation from the Mortlock Islanders. In the report of the amount of avails printed was $210. An accurate item in Mr. C. M. Cooke, the recording secretary's report, was: "A recapitulation of members of the Hawaiian Mission Children's Society according to the annual report of 1878. Ministers, 29; teachers, 46; doctors, 11; lawyers, 5; principals,
